SCHOOL – PARENT COMPAC

Show me a home where education and learning are central values and where the parents are reasonably competent at the business of childrearing, and I'll show you the home of a good student. (William Rasberry)

THE SCHOOL AGREES TO:

__Conduct a comprehensive needs assessment annually, using multiple sources of information in determining strengths and needs of the school. Disaggregate and analyze the data by gender, ethnicity, ELL status, disabled vs non-disabled and economic disadvantage.

- From the needs assessment, establish school goals and individual student achievement standards.
- Outline curriculum that has been proven effective. Align curriculum, instruction, and assessment to meet the state core curriculum, performance and accountability standards.
- Provide extended learning time opportunities for disadvantaged students.
- Provide accelerated, high quality curriculum that enables all students to achieve challenging standards.
- Implement transition activities to ensure the effective transition from preschool to elementary school and from elementary school to the next level.
- Ensure that educational services are provided by highly qualified teachers and para-professionals.
- Ensure that high quality on-going professional development activities are available to staff and these activities increase teacher capacity in making instructional decision.
- Provide a safe climate conducive to student learning.
- Involve parents in the development of goals and expectations.
- Share assessment and evaluation data with parents and/or the public.

PARENTS AGREE TO:

- Ensure that their children attend school regularly.
- Monitor homework assignments
- Read to/with their child for twenty minutes daily.
- Volunteer in their child’s classroom depending on teacher needs and time permits.
- Participate in school decisions as they relate to their child’s education.
- Monitor their child’s electronic device time.
- Ensure that their children get adequate sleep.
- Attend parent-teacher conferences.
- Return school communications in a timely manner.
